

Global Green Democracy Initiative & 7GENZ

Designed and owned by Samanthe Caren-McCarthy (Founder of 7GENZ), the Global Green Democracy Initiative (G.G.D.I.) is a non-profit, sustainable, environmental, social and financial model that meets the United Nation's 17 Sustainable Development Goals and is designed to heal humanity.

Potentially 75% may open their hearts and agree to some extent, but a significant portion of the public will hate this plan. This is life: People will always have their disagreements. There will always be people who are unwilling or unable to change their minds, even in the face of new evidence.

We will only heal when we invest in humanity itself. Trauma will only become generational trauma, passed on, not because we want to, but because no one healed the broken child.

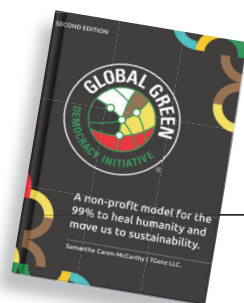

Now is the time for all countries—developed and developing—to invest in a sustainable world for our children and come together to heal both our Mother Earth and humanity itself.

Overview

By not changing or challenging the current system, we have accepted the outcomes for our children. In order to save us from ourselves, we need to be okay with shaking up the system and making them—the wealthy and governments—accountable to our future generations. We need a blueprint or map to rescue us.

We cannot continue to allow a very small portion of society to make these irresponsible decisions that impact us all. It is time to open our minds and understand that change is uncomfortable, even painful, but every country can benefit from this positive plan.

We will only heal when we invest in humanity itself. Trauma will only become generational trauma, passed on, not because we want to, but because no one healed the broken child. Now is our time to heal both our Mother Earth and humanity itself.
